

We share so much
you and me

In the din of silent smiles we sit at a table set with friendship heedless of the rules

Let's play together
you and me

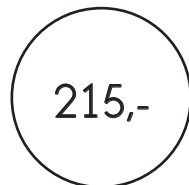

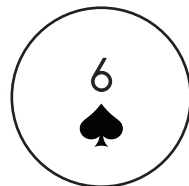

In my eyes, victory starves for fulfillment and in yours
in yours, my gracious defeat thirsts

Do you recognize me?

I am a moment woven of joy
So drink from me
I taste of happiness

Come join us
we'll play a game

How does it taste to drink your way through the game board to the bottom?

FANCY BANKRUPT

Christmas. A time of the year when port wine is never missing at our home. For long winter evenings with my favorite Monopoly games, sometimes one bottle just isn't enough. The winner is the one, who doesn't declare bankruptcy. But this bankruptcy on our menu tastes like dessert. Shall we have a rematch?

HORSE RACE LADY

Nothing warms the heart like a good brandy! Except perhaps a promising bet on a racehorse. Racing through blooming fields of clover luck into the sweet, honeyed embrace of the finish line is priceless. Or does it call for another bet? All these delicious possibilities are resting in your glass.

MONKEYS TOGETHER STRONG

It feels like it was just yesterday when we played “Monkeys” with my classmates in kindergarten. Non-stop, as if the time had frozen. Back then, we fought for a spot at the game and today, we fight for a spot at the bar. A bar where we bring this game of courage and balance into a sweet, creamy cocktail, with enough for everyone.
